

Company Profile

MBIT Support provides dynamic information technology solutions for small-medium enterprises suited for this fast-paced digital age.

Based in Kingston, Jamaica, MBIT is the brainchild of CEO Marvin Boggis. Boggis' experience and expertise in infrastructure management and user support span over two decades. It was during that period that he noticed a gap in the market. There was a need for world-class IT consulting and support solutions services for small-medium enterprises that also had a personal touch. Guided by the tenet that building relationships with clients should be a core value, Boggis' answered the call to open the doors of MBIT in 2016.

MBIT aims to be the premier IT service provider in the region and make lifelong clients from every customer contact. The company delivers solutions and services to diverse companies from different sectors such as law firms as well as financial and educational institutions.
